

Prime Minister and CofE promote fake 'war on Easter'

Posted: Tue, 4th Apr 2017 by Terry Sanderson

After several media outlets falsely claimed that the National Trust and Cadbury were 'airbrushing' Easter out of their Easter egg hunt, Terry Sanderson argues that the Prime Minister's involvement in this trumped-up propaganda exercise was the real disgrace.

Theresa May took time out from negotiating the future of our nation to become embroiled in a trumped-up publicity stunt contrived by the Church of England.

The Church threw a hissy fit, claiming that Cadbury had failed to include the word Easter in the promotional material for the egg hunts it organises at National Trust properties. In fact, the website address itself even contains the word Easter, and both the National Trust and Cadbury websites mention Easter numerous times. It is quite clear that, like previous similar episodes (the Lord's Prayer advert in cinemas for instance), this stunt has been carefully planned by the CofE to get itself on the front pages of the papers.

Leaving aside the manipulative elements, and ignoring the fact that the media was such a willing accomplice, we were also given the Prime Minister's two pennies worth.

"I'm not just a vicar's daughter, I'm a member of the National Trust as well," she told ITV during a visit to Amman, Jordan. "I think the stance they have taken is absolutely ridiculous. I don't know what they are thinking about frankly." The CofE's propaganda machine must have thought all its birthdays had come at once.

With the country standing on a cliff edge with no guarantees about its future, I would have thought that Mrs May would have more important things to concern herself with. Getting embroiled in what is so clearly a publicity stunt does her no favours.

The CofE has recently employed in its press departments two of the leading newspaper religious affairs correspondents to add to its already burgeoning PR department. They know how to angle stories for maximum effect, they know how to create a controversy out of nothing.

Perhaps in employing them, the CofE has made one its best investments ever. But underneath the hype we have a non-story – fake news, indeed.

Terry Sanderson

Terry Sanderson was the former president of the National Secular Society. The views expressed in our blogs are those of the author and may not necessarily represent the views of the NSS.

- Share on What's App
- Share on Facebook
- Share on Twitter
- Share on Email
- Subscribe to RSS Feed

Tags: FoRB

Related Campaigns

-

Freedom of religion or belief

Secularism protects freedom of religion or belief for all.

Read More

Related Articles

We must empower secular schools to assert their ethos

When Islamists tried to bully Michaela Community School, the school refused to back down. Other schools have not been so successful in challenging religious intimidation. Megan Manson explores what made Michaela different. Read More »

School's decision to restrict prayer rituals lawful, court finds

Disadvantage to Muslim pupils outweighed by need to promote interests of whole school community, judge says. Read More »

The universality of human rights needs defending

Seventy-five years on from the adoption of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, its promise of freedom and equality remains a distant dream for those living under religious rule, says Stephen Evans. Read More »

Freedom of religion or belief must include the freedom to 'blaspheme'

The freedom to question and criticise religious ideas in the same manner as any other kind is foundational to a democratic... Read More »

Established church hinders religious freedom, NSS tells UN expert

The NSS has told a UN expert that lack of separation between Church and state is undermining freedom of religion or belief in the UK. Read More »