Those of you who would prefer to listen to The God Delusion can now have the book on a set of 6 CDs read by the author Richard Dawkins and his wife Lalla Ward, who is a professional actress.

The book continues to create waves of controversy around the world and, indeed as Professor Dawkins tours the United States promoting it, he is finding himself at the centre of a fundamentalist storm.

And not just in the US, either. The Times ran an excerpt from the book and invited its readers to respond. You can read some of the answers here.

The Times columnist Oliver Kamm also had a pop at Dawkins, here.

Here’s what a Canadian newspaper thought.

Whether you love Dawkins or hate him (and, it seems, it isn’t only the believers who hate him), you simply cannot ignore this book. It is driving the complacent Christians crazy and getting the ecumenicals on our own side all of a flutter, too. You can buy the book from our on-line shop www.secularism.org.uk £20 post free for the book, and the CD set is £16.99 plus £1 p&p. Don’t be left out of the debate. Read The God Delusion!

We also have Sam Harris’s book Letter to a Christian Nation, which is also creating a bit of a hurricane stateside. Read a review here. This book is £10.99 plus £1 p&p – obtainable at the same address as above
