

Tags: Sixth form

Case study: Difficulty exercising the right to withdraw from collective worship

Posted: Wed, 03 Jan 2018 by A Pupil

Thanks to campaigning by the NSS, sixth-formers have the right to withdraw themselves from collective worship. But faith schools often make this nigh-on-impossible, as this pupil's story from one academy shows.

My sixth form holds three assemblies a week based... Read More »

Tags: Collective worship, Casework focus, Sixth form, Education

Sixth formers: You have the right to withdraw!

Posted: Fri, 26 Sep 2014 by Stephen Evans

Sixth form pupils can excuse themselves from acts of worship – but it appears some schools aren't so keen on recognising their students' rights to religious freedom.

Sixth form pupils over the age of sixteen have, since 2006, enjoyed the right to withdrawal... Read More »

Tags: Education, Collective Worship, sixth form

- Opinion