Religiosity inspections _ The case against faith-based inspections of state schools

Tue, 27th Apr 2021

Faith based inspections of state schools are an unnecessary drain on public funds, frame widely held values as exclusive and promote biased religious education.

Understanding Christianity and the study of religion and worldviews: How the C of E has gained control of religious education

Wed, 9th Dec 2020

2020 research supported by the NSS shows how the Church of England uses its dominant position within the RE community to advance its own theological approach to the subject.
