

A 'NEW MAGNA CARTA'?

Should the UK have a codified constitution? Would it best protect freedoms and equalities or entrench current privileges and inequalities?

Join Graham Allen MP, chair of the Parliamentary Political and Constitutional Reform Select Committee, and Bob Morris, from the UCL Constitution Unit, for a public discussion on the pros and cons of a codified constitution and its implications for secularism, Human Rights and equality.

25 Red Lion Square London WC1R 4RL THURSDAY 4 DECEMBER, 6pm

Free event, register online at bit.ly/NSSMagnaCarta

national secular
society